Speaker:

Beverly Costello
Higher Education Practice and Specialty Lines Practice Leader
Cross Financial Corp.

Beverly Costello is the Director of Cross Insurance, Inc. – Boston Office. Beverly is an insurance industry veteran with more than 35 years of experience. In addition to managing the Boston Office, Bev is leading two of Cross’s companywide Specialty Practices: Education Industry and Financial and Professional Specialty Products. These practices support a collaborative network of colleagues in providing expert service, consulting and customized insurance and risk management solutions. Throughout Bev’s career she has focused on identifying unique risk presented by different industries. In doing so, she has assessed Enterprise Risk Management from many perspectives. In 1998, when ERM was in its infancy, Bev was the Risk Manager for Yale University. There she was instrumental in setting up the framework for Enterprise Risk Management.

What’s New in Enterprise Risk Management for Construction?

“Raising profitability by controlling business risk” is fairly standard way to describe Enterprise Risk Management (ERM). However, every industry has its quirks. This presentation will delve into what’s unique about ERM for the Construction Industry and will provide some practical tools to implement ERM to support your ongoing businesses.

In this session you will learn:

- ✓ What is Risk Management?
- ✓ What is Enterprise Risk Management?
- ✓ What’s different about ERM for the Construction Industry?
- ✓ Practical tools to implement
