Message from the President

Wow 2019 has been off to a great start!! It all kicked off in January with an update on tax reform presented by CLA. In April we had a jobsite tour of Kraus-Anderson's fully completed building. Then in May we had a joint event with MSA on technology and a new member event at TopGolf. To top it all off in June we had a happy hour at the national conference in Las Vegas and our annual sporting clays tournament at the Horse & Hunt!

With all of that fun and education we are also proud to remind all of our members that we are now accepting applications for this year's Concurrent Scholarship program. Applications can be found online through the link and are due no later than August 4th. This a great opportunity for interns of general members so don't miss out.

The second half of 2019 should be equally as exciting and education packed! Our theme of technology in the construction industry will carry us through the year. We will provide numerous opportunities to expand your professional knowledge and build relationships with some of the construction industry's most passionate and talented professionals.

An annual highlight is coming up this fall as well, CFMA day (Oct. 21st). Mark your calendars and I know everyone is always excited to hear that Anirban Basu is coming to give his economic update. The day will include numerous breakout sessions this year with CPE provided education credits. So, come ready to learn.

I look forward to seeing you at the upcoming events!

*John Kappahn, MBA
President – Twin Cities Chapter of CFMA*

CFMA National Chairman’s Coin Challenge

CFMA takes a team of dedicated professional members WILLing to go above and beyond each year to provide the network, culture and education dedicated to construction financial professionals that we all enjoy. Amongst that team there are standout members doing “great” things and making local chapters shine. That is why Joe McLaughlin created the Chairman’s Challenge Coin.

The Coin is intended to acknowledge members for their “Service and Excellence”. We here at the Twin Cities Chapter of CFMA may not be surprised to hear that Will Titus with RSM who has been doing “great” things for our chapter for many years now was nominated. Will was presented with the award on March 15th over lunch with Pat Kolb, who nominated Will, Jason Bakke and John Kapphahn.

Next time you see Will be sure to thank him for his contributions to our chapter!! You can also click on the coin above to go to the national website and read more about Will’s contribution.
