Practical Strategies to Accelerate Decarbonization in the Built Environment

The CoreNet Colorado Chapter hosted an inspiring webinar, "Practical Strategies to Accelerate Decarbonization in the Built Environment," featuring Dianne Murata (Kimiko Designs) and Caroline Traube (McKinstry), moderated by Andy Bade (Oracle).

Dianne shared how circular design and furniture reuse can drive both sustainability and financial value, while Caroline discussed how building systems planning can meaningfully reduce carbon impact. Together, they offered practical strategies to help organizations balance near-term performance with long-term decarbonization goals.

A big thank-you to our speakers, moderator, attendees, and especially our event and annual sponsors for supporting programs that advance sustainability and innovation in the built environment.

Here's to empowering the next generation and strengthening the future of Corporate Real Estate! Together, we can achieve incredible things.
