Building Your Personal Brand:
How LinkedIn Can Help You Tell Your Story

By Julie Morris, Marketing Manager, Himes Associates, Ltd.

First impressions are powerful.

In the world of corporate real estate, it is essential to be seen as a subject matter expert that is current, professional, and accomplished. When utilized correctly, LinkedIn is a great tool that can be used to help build your personal brand as well as positively convey these qualities. Since we already know that people look each other up online, why not do everything you can to sell your brand and create the best first impression ever?

Your LinkedIn profile, when built correctly, can help people who may be researching gauge some of your interests, your recent employment history, and who you are connected with. Conversely, if YOU are being the researcher, LinkedIn provides a wealth of knowledge and analytical tools whether you are looking to learn about a new field, want to see who the experts are in a specific industry, or would like to know more about a particular company or product.

First things first: Why choose LinkedIn as your social media platform of choice? For starters, LinkedIn certainly has some impressive statistics:

- LinkedIn operates the world's largest professional network on the Internet with more than 313 million members in over 200 countries and territories.
- Professionals are signing up to join LinkedIn at a rate of more than two new members per second.
- There are over 39 million students and recent college graduates on LinkedIn. They are LinkedIn's fastest-growing demographic.
- LinkedIn counts executives from all 2013 Fortune 500 companies as members; its corporate talent solutions are used by 94 of the Fortune 100 companies.
- There are more than 1.5 million unique publishers actively using the LinkedIn Share button on their sites to send content into the LinkedIn platform.

Meet the Mid-Atlantic Chapter’s New Executive Committee

The term for the Mid-Atlantic Chapter’s new leadership began on January 1, 2017. The incoming Executive Committee is comprised of a mix of new and seasoned board members – Mark Gorman, Peter Van Emburgh, Karen Fields, Stefanie Spurlin, and Al Nielsen. We asked Mark, Peter, Karen, Stefanie and Al a few questions to get to know them better – and we did. Enjoy!

Mark Gorman –
MCR, SLCR | Vice President
Corporate Real Estate & Facilities, Ciena
CoreNet Mid-Atlantic President

Mark is Vice President Corporate Real Estate and Facilities at Ciena Corporation where he is responsible for leading all aspects of real estate related global services and strategies. Based at Ciena’s headquarters in Hanover, Maryland, Mark brings over 30 years of CRE leadership experience to his role. Since joining Ciena, the Corporate Real Estate team has created a global delivery structure, introduced a global approach to workplace planning, and delivered location strategies that have transformed the real estate holdings.

An active member of CoreNet Global, Mark has previously served on the Board of the North Texas Chapter as well as served as a director on CoreNet Global’s Board. Mark was a contributing author for the CoreNet Global CoRE 2010 and CoRE 2020 research projects focusing on location strategies and enterprise leadership respectfully. He is currently in his fourteenth year serving as a member of faculty for

Letter from the President

Fellow CoreNet Global Mid-Atlantic Colleagues

It is my great honor to serve as your Chapter President in 2017. This year we intend to continue the tradition of building on our Chapter’s past successes but with the specific goal to enhance the experiences of you, our members. In the year ahead, we hope to bring you diversity, in not only the programs and networking events available to you, but also diversity in the delivery format, venues, and event times, all in response to our ever evolving needs as corporate real estate professionals.

Serving with me on the executive committee is and equally dedicated and passionate group: Peter Van Emburgh, CBRE – Chapter Vice President; Karen Fields, Himes Associates – Treasurer; Stefanie Spurlin, Capital One – Secretary; and Al Nielsen, AOL – Immediate Past President and Advisor. I wish to personally thank the 2016 Chapter Board and in particular Al Nielsen for the leadership and direction throughout the last year. I firmly believe we stand on the shoulders of those who came before us. As a result of your efforts, our chapter is in an incredibly strong position to continue meeting the needs of all our members.

I invite all current, former, and future members and sponsors to make 2017 a year of engagement. This year we will begin a journey that will explore new ways to deliver experiences for you, our members, that further your professional aspirations. The 2017 Chapter Board is energized and passionate about bringing you the best our region has to offer and I believe our collective efforts will result in a growing awareness of CoreNet Global and recognition of the Mid-Atlantic Chapter in our marketplace as a thought leader and the “go to” source in our industry. Join us on this journey!

Sincerely,
Mark Gorman, MCR SLCR

Describe your current position
Katelyn is a senior associate at Transwestern, specializing in tenant representation, in their Washington DC office. She spends the majority of her time working with clients to develop their long term business vision and creating real estate strategies that support and fulfill their business goals and objectives. Prior to her position with Transwestern she worked in property management for JLL. She graduated from Virginia Tech after studying architecture and real estate.

What was your first job?
Selling Christmas wrapping paper door to door for her school. She was the top sales person.

Six words that describe Transwestern?
1. GREAT CHALLENGES
2. GREAT ATMOSPHERE
3. GREAT REWARDS
4. GREAT PRIDE
5. GREAT COMMUNICATION
6. GREAT BOSSES

Who was an important mentor to you?
Carol C. Honigberg, a partner at Reed Smith, is her mentor. She was paired with Carol through the CREW Future Leaders program and is grateful to have a woman mentor. Katelyn is working to “pay this forward” by setting up a CoreNet Mentorship program for young leaders in the Mid-Atlantic Chapter.

How do you keep work/life balance?
She grew up in the Washington, D.C. area, and enjoys a great support system of friends from the area, as well as, family located in Old Town, Alexandria. She attended Connelly School of the Holy Child and was one of 60 girls in her graduating class. She keeps in touch with many of them to balance her work life.

What are you reading now?
She heard Carla Harris speak at CREW and is now reading her “Strategize to Win.”

Favorite vacation spot
Prior to her career in commercial real estate, she was an artist. So of course her favorite vacation spot is Florence, Italy.

First record, tape or CD that you bought?
"Parachutes" by Cold Play
Additionally, LinkedIn provides exactly what its name implies – a way to become linked in to the most influential people, groups and areas of study. Building strong connections with these audiences can help provide a platform for you to sell your brand. Different ways in which you can do this include posting about new tools that can help improve industry knowledge, upcoming conferences you’ll be attending where networking and new knowledge are abundant, and new tricks of the trade that you are privy to.

One of the added benefits to using LinkedIn to build and sell your personal brand is that, when used effectively, LinkedIn is a great Search Engine Optimization Tool and can help individual profiles as well as small businesses get to the first page of Google.

Think you’re ready to start using LinkedIn to build your personal brand? Here are three crucial strategic objectives to keep in mind when building your profile:

1. Identity – Who are you and why should people want to get to know you? LinkedIn is a great platform to create, update and showcase your professional record. When built correctly, it becomes the go-to resource for strangers and peers alike to get to know your background with a simple click of a button.

2. Networks – LinkedIn connects over 600 million professionals or knowledge workers across the globe. Increasingly, this includes a number of students or “pre-professional.” It’s an ideal place to access new talent and develop professional relationships.

3. Knowledge – Want to be a global thought leader? Publish your content on LinkedIn. As one of the definitive professional publishing platforms out there, LinkedIn is a great place to showcase thought leadership and innovative excellence.
