

Is Work Hijacking Your Emotions?

Learning how to manage your (and your team's) emotions is critical to success. Studies show that emotional intelligence is two times more important in contributing to excellence than intellect and expertise alone.

Find fresh vision and an edge in a competitive world with Bill Benjamin! Then: Increase your Emotional Quotient to lead CRE through a time of unprecedented change!

- Maximize performance and productivity by developing vision and skills in your team.
- Create a leadership culture that motivates and inspires people toward greater performance.
- Build effective relationships at work, at home and at play.

Today's best practices alone are not enough for a successful way forward. Future success requires innovation to pioneer new business models and drive value creation. Now more than ever, the impetus is on rapid change and the need to REIMAGINE business, REORIENT skills and REIGNITE value.
