OSCAR E. MARSCH was born in Wismar, Germany. He received his BS and MS degrees from the Engineering School, Koenigsberg, Germany, in 1936 and 1939, respectively, and his PhD in Liberal Arts from Koenigsberg University in 1941. He came to the United States in June of 1954. In 1958 he joined the Ralph M. Parsons Company as chief specification engineer and department head.

Marsch joined the Los Angeles Chapter of CSI in 1961 and served as chapter president for the 1966-1967 term.

He received a number of awards in the CSI Specification Competition, and was the first CSI member to capture four first-place Specification Competition awards within a two-year period.

After retiring, he moved to Europe.
