

Casey F. Robb, FCSI

"For your continuous and dedicated service at the chapter, region, and institute levels; for your enthusiastic efforts at fostering involvement of members of the Atlanta Chapter and the Southeast Region in the programs and activities of the Institute; and for your efforts to educate construction professionals by developing guide specifications and product schedules, you are advanced to Fellowship in the Institute on the 22nd day of April 2005."
Chicago, Illinois

CASEY F. ROBB is a motivational leader of CSI who has enlightened many through educational presentations, mentoring and has notably advanced education throughout CSI and the construction industry. Contributions include many outstanding chapter programs integrating technology through information delivery and advancing education in countless ways.

His dedicated service to CSI through his involvement with Programs, Convention Planning, Academic Affairs, and Professional Development at the Institute level along with his leadership of the Atlanta Chapter, CSI Foundation, and Southeast Region has further advanced the mission and goals of CSI improving its image within the industry, the community, and with institutions of higher learning. He continues to be an outstanding mentor, investing his time and talent back into the industry as demonstrated as a continuous member of CSI for 25 years. His association with the construction industry for over 30 years has been harmonious with CSI where he continues to be an enthusiastic and motivating presence.

In recognition of his industry leadership and outstanding service to CSI he received the Harry B. Huff Memorial Award from the Atlanta Chapter in 1996, the Charles J. Huckleberry Memorial Award from the Southeast Region in 2001, the Robert P. Brosseau Memorial Award from the Institute in 2002. These accomplishments, along with his continuous service to CSI at the Institute level, are indicative of Casey's tenacious dedication and service to the Institute and his continued advancement of its mission and goals. He has significantly contributed to CSI and the construction industry over the past 25 years and has provided distinguished service to the advancement of the Institute's mission, and continues in the advancement of professional development, governance reform, and continuing education for the entire construction community.
