With a growing population and a city that expands, the needs of Apple Valley and its population have become an issue to be addressed. We were tasked with enhancing this already fully functioning fire station while adding room for the community to be involved and incorporated as well.

The biggest challenge in this project was the requirement to keep the original building shape intact on this triangular site. We collaborated on each aspect of the design process creating our own ideas and then finding the commonalities and differences between them to create a finished product that was equal to both of us.
