Spotlight Your Campus District Energy System!

Is your campus a rising star in the world of sustainable district energy? If so, it's time to let the world know about it.

We encourage you to collaborate with students at your college or university and submit an entry in the IDEA Campus Student Video Contest. Filming a creative, three-minute video highlighting the benefits of your campus district energy system to your community can shine a light on your system both locally and globally – and possibly win you some cool prizes.

The winning student video will receive $1,000 plus paid airfare and lodging to attend CampusEnergy2024 in San Francisco, CA, February 20-23, 2024, with second and third place prizes of $500 and $250 respectively.

For more than a decade, students from IDEA member campuses across North America have inspired us with their innovation and exceptional creativity over the years. We can't wait to see what you and your students come up with this year!

Winning entries will be seen globally on the IDEA website, YouTube page and social media. Your energy and enthusiasm for district energy will help us educate the general public about its significant role in campus sustainability. Best of all you'll have a lot of fun doing it. Happy filming!

Make a Difference. Promote Your Campus District Energy System.
