ENA Meeting Minutes

08/14/19

Respectfully Submitted by Lauren Sosnoski, RN, BSN, BHS, CEN

In Attendance

Tracey Bixler (president), Lauren Sosnoski (secretary), Sara Watkins, Nonette Clemens, Jesse Scholl (5)

Minutes:

Location: Cherokee Tap Room, Danville, PA
Time: 5-7
Speaker: Heather Shnyder (Transitions of PA)
Topic: Commercial Sexual Exploitation of Victims in PA

Heather Shnyder provided attendees with information regarding human trafficking. She defined what is considered human trafficking, venues of trafficking, physical and social indicators, potential human traffickers, and populations at highest risk. She provided non-disclosing examples of human trafficking within our area, which made the notion that it was within our rural area concrete. She also discussed that individuals being trafficked may present to the emergency room (ER) for any complaint and by observing physical indicators or the dynamics between the patient and their visitor, you may be able to identify them and assist them in getting help. Mrs. Schnyder also provided folders to all attendees to take back to their department to educate others in the hopes of increasing awareness and that others may be helped.

EMSC Program Bill Ready to Be Signed
The House of Representatives and Senate scurried to wrap-up consideration of multiple bills during their final days before the August recess brought congressional activity to a halt until after Labor Day. Among the bills considered was ENA-priority legislation to reauthorize the Emergency Medical Services for Children program at HHS. This Day on the Hill-priority bill had been recently moving rapidly towards completion, with H.R. 776 clearing committee action in the House just days before its passage, which occurred by voice vote on July 24.

Although the Senate version of this bill, S. 1173 had cleared the HELP committee in June, Senate leaders elected to take up the House version of the bill to ensure swift passage before recess. H.R. 776 was passed by voice vote in the Senate on July 31. The bill now heads to the president to be signed into law. First enacted in 1984, the EMSC program is the only federal program dedicated to improving emergency care for children regardless of where they live, attend school or travel.

Bill to Continue Federal Support for Poison Control Nears Completion
Last month, we reported on the movement of other ENA-supported bills making their way through Congress right now, like S. 1199, the Poison Center Network Enhancement Act.

On July 22, the Senate passed by voice vote an amended version of S. 1199 that had been approved by the Senate HELP Committee in July. Because the House had already passed its own version of this bill (H.R. 501) in February, additional action after the recess is necessary before the president can sign this important reauthorization into law. Per Congressional rules, the House and Senate must pass identical pieces of legislation before this can happen. The most likely scenario is that either the House or Senate will pass the other chamber’s bill, rather than going through the trouble of assigning conferees to negotiate a final bill.

The Poison Center Network Enhancement Act will ensure continued federal financial support for the nation’s 55 poison control centers and the national toll-free poison control hotline. In 2016 alone, the nation’s poison control centers received 2.2 million calls from people who encountered potentially dangerous substances, including over 650,000 calls from nurses and doctors who rely on poison centers for an immediate assessment and expert advice on poisoning cases. In addition, poison control centers fielded approximately 192 cases each day related to opioid abuse and misuse.
House Dems to Unveil Drug Pricing Bill Next Month

After months of talks among House leaders and the various factions in the Democratic caucus, House Speaker Nancy Pelosi (D-CA) is expected to unveil a bill to curb the rising cost of prescription costs next month when Congress returns from its August recess. Among other provisions, the legislation would allow Medicare to negotiate drug prices with pharmaceutical companies. Roughly a third of prescription drugs are sold to Medicare recipients, but the Medicare Modernization Act that set up Medicare's prescription drug benefit in 2003 currently prohibits such negotiations. To force drug companies to the table, the legislation reportedly would levy a heavy tax on prior year profits of a drug and force companies into arbitration with the government.

There is strong support among Democrats and Republicans for prescription drug cost controls. According to a 2018 poll from Kaiser Family Foundation, 96% of Democrats and 92% of Republicans support giving the government the ability to negotiate directly to reduce drug prices. President Trump has indicated support for cost controls. However, even if it passes the House with the president's support, there are no guarantees in the Senate where traditional Republican sentiment against government controls remains strong.

Zika Update: What the CDC is Saying Now

The good news, according to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), is there are "no current local transmission of Zika virus in the continental United States, including Florida and Texas, which reported local transmission of Zika virus by mosquitoes in 2016-17." The bad news is Zika is alive and well in many parts of the world and climate change could make it more troublesome in the U.S. A study published in Nature Microbiology studied the effect of climate change on the spread of dengue, which is spread by the same type of mosquito that spreads Zika. "Increasing temperatures may further exacerbate this situation by enabling greater spread and transmission in low-risk or currently dengue-free parts of Asia, Europe, North America and Australia," the authors wrote.

And, according to the World Health Organization (WHO), while incidences are down in the Americas, they are far from eliminated. "In 2018, Brazil [where the 2015-2016 outbreak in the Americas originated] reported 19,020 cases, representing 60% of all reported cases in the region, of which 7% were laboratory confirmed. Some countries with the highest number of cases and incidence in 2018 include Panama with 2,752 suspected cases (incidence of suspected cases 66/100,000 population) and Bolivia with 1,736 suspected cases (incidence of suspected cases 15/100,000 population)."

Health Care Expected to Shape 2020 Elections

Health care is on the minds of voters as they continue to struggle to pay healthcare costs and premiums. A May RealClear Opinion Research survey of voters found that 36% of Americans ranked healthcare first among issues of concern, with 26% listing it second. Only the economy was close, with 26% ranking it first and 25% second. What's more, 67% across all political spectrums believe the U.S. healthcare system "is broken" or "is not working well."

At the same time, a Monmouth University Poll found that "nearly half the country reports their healthcare costs have continued to rise over the past two years and they have difficulty meeting their medical expenses." It is likely, therefore, that health care costs will be a top issue in both the presidential campaign and in races for the House and Senate next year.
