2020 Festival Operations Survey

FilmEx 2021 Presentation

January 11, 2021
Hello and welcome to a presentation of results from the first inaugural FFA surveys of several important film festival stakeholders.

3 Audiences Surveyed:
- Film Festival Organizers
- Filmmakers
- Film Festival Attendees

Objectives

1. Understand how key film festival audiences are responding to the moment in 2020
2. Learn what is going well for festivals, filmmakers and audience members...and where there are challenges
3. Identify actionable opportunities to strengthen festivals and the festival experience – both live and virtual
Thank You!

Profound thanks to...

6 festival organizers and 5 filmmakers who participated in in-depth interviews to shape key questions,
18 film festivals who partnered to help field the audience survey,
61 festival organizers, 46 filmmakers and 2,200 audience members who completed online surveys with detailed and thoughtful responses,
And of course Film Festival Alliance and The Gotham Film & Media Institute (formerly IFP) for sponsoring this work.
Sources and Methods: Fresh Data!

- There are three samples of data collected as part of this project

- Films directed by women
- Mental health, addictions, recovery and wellness
- Montana-made/tied independent film

Question: Does your organization focus on particular types of films for your festival(s)? (select all that apply) 75% of these festival organizers report doing at least “somewhat” well as they have reacted to the challenges of 2020.

- However 15% of festival organizers, roughly 1 in 6, report doing somewhat badly or very badly

Overall State of Festivals (since March, 2020)

- 47% Very badly – we are in serious trouble
- 28% Somewhat well – we’re doing OK, but there have been some challenges
- 11% Neutral – can’t say
- 9% Somewhat badly – we’ve suffered a setback, but we’re hanging in there
- 4% Very well - we are pivoting and adapting, staying strong

Question: Overall, how are you doing?
For the 15% of festivals that are doing “somewhat” or “very” badly, the greatest challenges tend to focus on funding and revenue.

Question: What is your greatest challenge or issue right now?

• Revenue and Funding Pressure
  - “Funding”
  - “Continuing funding resources. Limited funds, oversaturation of existing donors, variables due to Covid19 pandemic.”
  - “Lack of grant funding as foundations spend more on humanitarian basic needs and less on arts and the environment”
  - “Sponsorship and attendance”
  - “We have not been able to get engagement with our Virtual Cinema that comes close to tickets sales for our normal year-round programming. This loss of revenue threatens our ability to meet our expenses.”
  - “The most important problem is finances and the exposure to reach the world.”

• Access to Titles
  - “Competing for title exclusivity without interfering with our local partner cinemas, which are also struggling.”
The majority of festivals across size groupings are doing “somewhat well” or “very well” with roughly a quarter doing less well.
The majority of these festivals have received COVID-related funding from national, regional or local sources.

- The Paycheck Protection Program was most widely received
- Larger festivals appear to have been more likely to be awarded funding from most of these programs and sources

Question: Did you receive any of the following COVID-related funding? Please select all that apply.

Film Festival Alliance 2020 Festival Operations Survey: 61 Respondents (festival organizers)
Nearly all of these festivals report declines in revenue, and the majority report declines in profitability/net revenue.

- The largest festivals are most likely to report steep (25%+) declines in net revenue

Question: What has the financial impact of 2020 been on your organization compared to 2019?
Nearly three-quarters (73%) of these festivals hosted online or virtual festivals since the beginning of the pandemic.

- Many, though a much smaller number, hosted in person events since the beginning of the pandemic.

Question: Since the beginning of the COVID-19 pandemic, which of the following (if any) has your organization implemented for 2020?

Film Festival Alliance 2020 Festival Operations Survey: 61 Respondents (festival organizers)
These festival organizers created a variety of in person and virtual formats and experiences for their audiences in 2020.

Question: Since the beginning of the COVID-19 pandemic, which of the following (if any) has your organization implemented for 2020?

• Other Types of Events Held in 2020
  - “Hosted a few drive-In screenings in 2020”
  - “Produced two drive-in festivals”
  - “Hosted Free/Sponsored Drive-In & Online screening events”
  - “Launched an online platform and app”
  - “Added additional online programs”
  - “Hosted online retrospective and best of fest events”
  - “We turned our Festival into virtual stand-alone screenings, and produced a 5-day Day of the Dead celebration, mixing films and other online activities”
  - “Had in-person events for virtual festival”
  - “Hosted 3 fests online - April, Oct, Nov + now planning hybrid fest for April 2021”
  - “Planning hybrid 2021: Live + online”
  - “We were meant to launch our festival in September 2020, but chose to wait. We’re TBD on a 2021 launch, knowing that it will be the first recovery year of many for our year-round art house cinemas.”
Those who held events in 2020 report a very similar mix in terms of the source of films compared to 2019.

- In both 2019 and 2020, the majority of festival films came from filmmaker submissions with 29% coming from distributors.

Question: Did your organization encourage leadership, staff, board members and/or invited filmmakers to participate in SOCIAL EVENTS? In general, how many of them participated?

Film Festival Alliance 2020 Festival Operations Survey: 61 Respondents (festival organizers)
Virtual Festivals: Despite staffing constraints, needing to learn new technologies and processes and the fundamental challenges of the moment, film festivals pulled off virtual events and extended their reach in 2020.

Question: Overall, what would you say went the best and what were some of your biggest challenges hosting a virtual festival in 2020?

- Went the best (select comments)
  - “Flexibility for viewers to participate on their own time”
  - “Expanding our audience across the country”

Question: Are you hopeful or concerned about the future of the independent film ecosystem?
Regardless of size, many festivals would like to see a number of changes to improve organization success.

- New approaches to audience and filmmaker interactions, shared approach to national sponsorships and securing better data from screening platforms are all widespread priorities

Priorities for Future Success

- New formats/approaches for audience and filmmaker interactions
  - All Respondents: 79%
  - Less than $250K: 77%
  - $250-499.9K: 86%
  - $500K or more: 82%

Question: Going forward, what needs to be addressed for your festival(s), in person or on-line, to be more successful?
Aside from the progress of vaccines (several comments related to this), festival organizers prioritize refining the technology interface and enhancing audience engagement to differentiate from other film experiences.

Question: Going forward, what needs to be addressed for your festival(s), in person or on-line, to be more successful? (other responses)

- Other Needs, Concerns and Priorities

  Interface/Experience
  - “Better Technical presentation”
  - “Getting viewers over the technology hump”
  - “Advocating against geo-blocking/premiere status”
  - “Not integrated platforms, but better integrations of existing providers.”

  Access to Films
  - “The window of opportunity to screen indie films is getting more limited, because more films seem to be going directly to streaming from the large festivals to the big companies.”

  Engagement
  - “Better ways to promote interactivity with audience beyond filmmaker Q&As”
  - “Online festivals compete with Netflix and HBO Max, so they have to be better than what someone is already getting for $15 a month.”
  - “Biggest festival challenge is bringing back the interactive part of a live event. Festivals cannot slide into becoming just another VOD platform. Lose audience and character.”
  - “Trying to continue to build our base/audience within our community is the only way I see longevity and support and success for our 3 festivals over time.”

Audience Survey Results
(teaser – full results on January 14)
Film festival audience members are inspired… and inspired to take action.

Film Festival attendees agree (strongly or somewhat) that their festival…

- 96%: present films outside the mainstream
- 94%: helps tell important stories that would otherwise not be told
- 94%: elevates the experience of being in this community
- 94%: presents films that are relevant to the present moment
- 91%: one of the best things about this community
- 91%: exposes me to new ideas and ways of thinking

Audience Actions Taken

- Informed friends or family about an important issue: 69%
- Made a financial contribution to an organization in my community (other than sponsor): 38%
- Made a financial contribution to national or global organization: 25%
- Began volunteering for an organization (other than sponsor): 13%
Question: What is a specific memory you have that highlights your experience of [Sponsor]?

- A Whole Lotta Love
  - “Every year is a fun, entertaining, and inspiring. A great showcase for independent films.”
  - “I remember sitting in my car crying about the injustices highlighted in After Selma. If both infuriated and energized me. I had attended alone, but I was so angry that after I left, I began texting and emailing everyone asking that they watch it so they could be enlightened and share it with others.”
  - “I love the community that the festival brings. Everyone talking, laughing, walking the streets from event to event. It's a great atmosphere to be a part of.”
  - “It was a beautiful online experience, where I felt community in an acute way even though we were disconnected physically”
  - “It is so inspiring and positive”
  - “It's a festival not just a movie.”
  - “Feeling like I am part of something really special”
It’s been a hard year...of course!
Most festivals, large and small, have managed to adapt and make the most of this time.
The majority of these festivals have received COVID-related funding from national and local sources.
The majority of respondents hosted a virtual festival in 2020, typically in September or October; although there were challenges, things went better than expected across a range of variables, and these events allowed many festivals to reach wider audiences.
A minority also held in person events in 2020 that were generally positive.
Some key areas of opportunity going forward are to:
  o Strengthen audience engagement in digital spaces
  o Potentially work together to secure national sponsorship that can benefit individual FFA members
  o Continue to work together to strengthen operations and access to films while sharing best practices, etc.
Film festivals play a critical role in the lives of their audiences and their communities, inspiring attendees and inspiring action across a range of issues.
