Discover the “Step down, step up” clinical method to managing biofilm in the wound

Experts suggest hard to heal wounds need a combination of therapies.¹

Did you know 90% of non-healing wounds may contain biofilm?²

Biofilms are communities of bacteria that attach to a wound and are resistant to traditional antibiotics and biocides.

Learn more about biofilm in the wound at medline.com/pages/skin-health-biofilm

* These are approximate times. Your clinical expertise and assessments will guide the proper timing.