Optimizing How Verifications Get Done

A Leading Independent Source for Employment and Education Verification

We're modernizing the way the industry thinks about data and verifications. The expansion of our proprietary Verified! database as well as the continued advancement of an intelligent verification routing system reduces the dependence on other systems, resulting in faster turnaround times, reduced cost, and improved quality of data.

Verified! delivers the employment and educational data results employers need, while offering applicants peace of mind that their current employer will not be alerted during the verification process. Verified! instant present employment solves both by instantly completing the verification without alerting the applicant's current employer.

Hire Smarter

In today's fast-moving job market, time is money. Anything you can do to speed up hiring is good for business and creates a great first impression when onboarding employees. Verified! is disrupting the way verifications are fulfilled by combining automation, technology, and a proprietary data source to deliver a new verifications process that provides:

Better Price - Less reliance on TALX using a proprietary data source that is one of the largest of its kind.

Processing Speed - Intelligent routing and processing of data helps optimize turnaround times.

Ease of Use - An intuitive experience that keeps it simple for applicants to provide their details.

Onboard Faster

Present employment verifications can be one of the most challenging services to complete, adding a longer turnaround time for verification results. Verified! helps mitigate this challenge with reduced turnaround times, cost, and fewer "unable to verify" instances for verification of employment, education, credentials, and qualifications.
