

Summer Thoughts on XML and JSON

Kurt Struyf

Time flies, and with it, technology continues to change and evolve to meet new and expanding needs. This month's content article takes a look at XML and JSON in DB2 - how these technologies have changed throughout the years, and what to expect in years to come.

IDUG Volunteer Spotlight

Introducing the IDUG Volunteer Spotlight! Each month, the eBulletin will feature a dedicated IDUG volunteer to learn why they are involved with IDUG. This month, learn more about Paul Murray, IDUG Australasia 2014 Conference Planning Committee, Conference Chair-Elect.

Q: What do you enjoy most about being a member of IDUG?

A: Meeting the people in the IDUG community, hopefully contributing to their learning in some small way and learning from all of the great volunteers, experts and IDUG members I have had the privilege of meeting.

Q: What has been your most memorable IDUG experience?

A: Attending and speaking at the last two IDUG in Europe conferences, for a variety of reasons - one being witnessing our current President singing along to a Sting impersonator in Berlin.
