Managing the Scarcest Resource of All - Time

What would change if you treated time as your most valuable asset? In a world full of competing priorities, it has become as important as ever to manage time more intentionally and effectively. Join us for this session presented by Matthew Hermanson, a Learning Specialist at the University of Kansas as he dives into the importance of time and how it affects us in all facets of life. This event will be hosted at Jazz, a Louisiana Kitchen at 1823 W 39th St in Kansas City, Missouri. There is a pay to park garage location on State Line Road near Jazz that can be utilized for 2 free hours of parking by using the QR Code found within the restaurant. At the end of the day, time is a resource we can never get back. The real question isn't about how much time we have, but how intentionally we choose to use it. We hope to see you there!

When? 6:00PM - 8:00PM

Where? Jazz A, Louisiana Kitchen, 1823 W 39th St, Kansas City, Missouri 64111
