SCM MIDLANDS MESSAGE

The newsletter for the SC Midlands Chapter of ISACA

We're living in unprecendented and uncertain times right now, but as with every other pandemic this world or country has seen before COVID-19… we will get through this together. A couple of things to remember as the majority of us have been forced into quarantine:

1. Be ever vigilant in your pursuit of security. Hackers are out there more than ever leveraging the fear and panic caused by COVID-19 to launch new malware and ransomware to unsuspecting users.
2. Educate your less-than-tech-savvy family and friends with tips on what to look out for as most of us are spending more time online than ever.
3. Cyber attacks are increasing as remote work is becoming the new normal. Employees are relying on email more than ever which increases the need for security and defense.
   Here's a tip: Before clicking on a link in an email-- if you think it could be a phish-- just copy the link and go here to have this site scan the link for potential phishing. This blog post by Ralph Collum is full of more great tips about Phishing.

Reading Nook

The world is changing every day, nay every hour. To keep from being left behind, organizations are forced to think outside the box in how to conduct business. This is no different for the IT audit world. Gone are the days – at least in the present and near future – of conducting onsite audits. Read about one company that has paved the way for performing remote assessments.
