

Cybersecurity and the Internet of Everything (IoE)

In this informative one-hour presentation, Marc Samson will delve into the IoE concept. This encompasses the seamless integration of IoT, AI, and various emerging technologies into our daily lives, shedding light on the fresh cybersecurity challenges and opportunities that arise as a result.

Marc Samson

Marc is an Internationally experienced Cybersecurity, Enterprise IT / OT and Privacy executive with expertise establishing strategy, as well as technical infrastructures that are secure, reliable, and maintainable.

He is passionate about enabling organizations to achieve rapid growth, continually enhance customer experiences, and achieve unfaltering operational excellence. His practical approach and deep technical understanding enable him to provide comprehensive solutions that meet the needs of the complex, ever-changing business and threat landscape.

With a lifelong passion for all things Technology and Security, he is a sought-after public speaker and technical trainer, known for his ability to break down complex topics in an engaging and straightforward way.