SASIG Webinars

Monday 22 May 2023, 11am-12noon (BST)

How war in Europe changed the threat landscape, perspectives from ESET telemetry

https://www.thesasig.com/calendar/event/23-05-22-cybercrime/

We will provide an overview of destructive wiper malware based on the trends observed in ESET telemetry data in 2022, and present details of handpicked incidents that impacted Ukraine and its allies. We will also explore the shifting popularity of several intrusion vectors, including brute-force attacks against RDP and the endemic vulnerability in the Log4j library. To broaden the context beyond the Windows platform, we will zoom in on Android, the only category that saw continuous growth of detections throughout 2022.

Tuesday 23 May 2023, 9.30am – 3pm (BST) – In Person Liverpool

North West SASIG - Culture and security: Setting the right tone

You need me to do what? 50 years of computing, comms and security

https://www.thesasig.com/calendar/event/23-05-24-evening/

Join us for a whistle-stop tour through Peter Wood's five decades in computing, communications, and security. Pete will talk about some of his more unusual and interesting experiences, including installing systems in Poland during the cold war, the challenges of electronic airline systems at Gatwick, the early adoption of local area networks in business, and the first ISP in Brighton. He'll also explain why he had to patch a live operating system in hex by telephone, paint dozens of Commodore PETs bright orange, and write 6502 machine code for sharing a hard disk.

Wed, 24 May 2023 16:00 - 18:00 BST Hybrid - University of Surrey & Online
