Don't get ready for an audit… Plan to always be auditable and compliant!

https://www.thesasig.com/calendar/event/23-05-03-resilience/

The evolving threat landscape and increasing risk of ransomware has forced the NCSC to update Cyber Essentials' technical control requirements. But achieving certification once a year is not enough – our IT and security posture changes rapidly, leaving us vulnerable to attacks. In this webinar, we explore a better way to be auditable (and compliant) at all times. Join us to learn how to streamline your security processes and ensure your IT is always ahead of the game.

Thursday 4 May 2023

9.30am – 3pm (BST) – In person, Birmingham

10am – 2pm (BST) – Live stream via Zoom

- Ransomware – Should I pay, or should I go?

- Nudges. A-nudge-r way to irritate your audience or a new way to drive awareness and behaviour change?

- Cyber forensics – Who did what to you, and how

- Information security and an operator of essential services: Challenges in a regulated sector

- Panel session: Building your organisation's resilience – What's there to help?

Friday 5 May 2023, 11am-12noon (BST)

Influence and behaviour change – Securing the human factor

https://www.thesasig.com/calendar/event/23-05-05-awareness/

When 90% of cyber-attacks start with the human user, and technical controls can never be 100%, we need our people to be the last line of defence. In this webinar, Think Cyber explore how an understanding of influence, persuasion and behavioural science theory can be applied to security awareness. Tim will touch on Cialdini, Fogg, Com-B and more.
