Message from the Chapter President:

Dear Chapter Members,

While National Cyber Security Awareness Month is behind us, please continue to do your part and be cyber-smart well beyond October 2020. As noted by the Cybersecurity and Infrastructure Security Agency (CISA) and the National Cyber Security Alliance (NCSA), "This theme encourages citizens to own their role in cybersecurity and do their part in protecting cyberspace". With the use of virtual platforms, and the need to work and learn remotely, follow these tips on how you can be safe and secure online.

The New York Metropolitan Chapter partnered with several organizations including ISC<sup>2</sup>, IIA, Infragard, ISACA New Jersey Chapter, ISACA Greater Hartford, and others to support two events during Cybersecurity Awareness Month: Northeast Annual Cybersecurity Summit and the New York Metropolitan Joint Cybersecurity Conference. Both events were well attended and offered several important topics including Cloud Adoption, Business Resiliency, the Impact of COVID-19 in the work environment, DevOps and more. I hope you had an opportunity to attend.

Don't miss our 1-day CDPSE Privacy by Design review course on November 29th for those who have recently grandfathered this certification. For more information on this and other certifications, look at the appropriate Certification sections in this newsletter. All certification classes are taught by our renowned instructor, Jay Ranade. In addition to certification classes, review each section of this newsletter and take advantage of upcoming membership events and top-notch training. Calling all Emerging Professionals!!! ### The 'Holiday' Weeks

Hope everyone started their Q4 on the right foot! As you know, the last Quarter of the year can lend itself to panic or hecticness as everyone tries to achieve their goals for year end. Here are some tips to manage through these crazy weeks:

- Schedule and Organize: Make a plan, and get into the habit of putting it on the calendar. Having a plan allows you focus and organization. And stick to it!
- Go small: If a task seems large and daunting, break it down even further so that they are concrete and achievable. Instead of "I need to finish this report by the end of the week", do "I will have a general outline by Monday, a working draft of the introduction by Tuesday, etc."
- Allow imperfections: Be kind to yourself - not everything has to be perfect! Find the opportunities where "good enough" is enough; otherwise, you'll be obsessing over details that are not relevant (thus - adding more stress in your life).
- Make time for your well-being: It has been proven time and time again that stepping away from work increases your productivity. Whether it's a quick gym workout, a good book, or just a walk around the block - take care of yourself!

Engage Online Community - SheLeadsTech

Since we can't deliver you in-person events at the moment, we turn to digital means and resources. Did you know? We have an online forum that is active and thriving! The ISACA SheLeadsTech Engage Community is a forum-style community, to discuss relevant topics pertaining to the representation of women in technology. Remember - you are not alone - we are alone together! Check out the Online Community for future events, engaging discussions, and network with other professionals.

The One in Tech Podcast - Engaging on Meaningful Topics for Women in Tech

On this episode of the One In Tech podcast, a trio of SheLeadsTech volunteers discuss top-of-mind issues for women in tech and how people can become involved with the program through ISACA's Engage platform.

Emerging Professionals

Chairperson: Megan Soriano

The "WHAT"

The Emerging Professionals (EP) Committee focus on members new to the profession and younger members (40 and under) representing the future of the profession. We provide guidance and networking opportunities as emerging professionals navigate through the early stages of their career.

The resulting economic crunch due to COVID-19 left many individuals out of work. Surprisingly, many workers (who are currently employed) ARE looking to switch or transition into a new role! When there's many applicants for one role - how do you make yourself stand out? Let's start with the basics - your resume! Debi Easterday, CEO of H2B Consulting, will walk us through restructuring your resume so that you can stand out from the crowd. We will review a few resumes and go through a live critique - if you'd like yours to be critiqued, send it to me (megan.soriano@isacany.org) and we will anonymize it.

The first session is all about landing that job...but what does it take to keep it/add value to your company/get that promotion? Gideon Rasmussen, who is a vCISO of Virtual CSO LLC, will give us a presentation on getting that seat at the table by giving us tips on communicating effectively, speaking in terms of risk, and making yourself known in your company!

This is an Emerging Professionals Event, so if you are a:

- Senior who's about to graduate
- Recent grad (0 to 2 years in the workforce)
- Junior or Senior Staff or Analyst
- A Manager with less than 7 years of experience

then this is an event catered to you!

Lastly - we are offering this to you, our chapter members, at no-cost (make sure you register for the event, with the email that you have registered with ISACA). Student members in the ISACA New York Metropolitan Student Groups - please reach out to your club officers for the discount code. Non-chapter members must pay $20 to attend. ### Spotlight Topic #1 -The NCSC Urges Firms to Patch New SharePoint Vulnerability

On Friday, October 16th, the National Cyber Security Centre (NCSC) issued an alert warning system owners of a new remote code execution (RCE) vulnerability affecting Microsoft SharePoint. According to the NCSC, successful exploitation of this vulnerability could enable attackers to run arbitrary code and carry out administrative actions on compromised installations. The vulnerability affects Microsoft SharePoint Foundation 2013 Service Pack 1, SharePoint Enterprise Server 2016, and SharePoint Server 2019, but not SharePoint Online as part of Office 365. While there are currently no reports of attackers leveraging this vulnerability, proof-of-concept code is already available. To mitigate this vulnerability, the NCSC recommends following vendor best-practice advice. In the case of the SharePoint vulnerability, it is critical to install the latest security updates as soon as possible. Microsoft published an advisory on this specific vulnerability which includes links to these updates: Microsoft SharePoint Remote Code Execution Vulnerability

The NCSC recommends the following best practices to help prevent and mitigate RCE attacks:

- Keep your devices and networks up to date: use the latest supported versions, apply security updates promptly, use antivirus, and scan regularly to protect against known malware threats.
- Prevent and detect lateral movement in your organization's networks.
- Set up a security monitoring capability to detect network intrusions.
- Review and refresh your incident management processes.
