How to change your Default Email app in Windows 10.

First click your start menu, then click the settings icon, shaped like a gear, as pictured below.

Next, on the PC Settings panel, Click Apps
Next, click Default Apps

In your list of Default Apps, notice the default email app under the Email heading, is most likely still set to Windows mail, as pictured below. Click the Mail app icon.
Select your preferred email app from the list that appears, in this instance, we are choosing Outlook.

You are done. Your new default email app icon will be showing where the previous app icon once resided.
