

Custom Course Request Form

The Military Operations Research Society (MORS) offers courses in a variety of topics that give the national security operations research community an opportunity to learn relevant analytical subjects often not covered by academia or commercial sources. These programs contain practical knowledge to equip participants with essential information and to help prepare them to excel in their professional environment.

If your organization has training needs that cannot be fulfilled by one of our established offerings, we can tailor our programs in order to meet those needs. After an initial call to get a better understanding of what your organization needs, MORS will create a custom program that is taught through a combination of lectures, practical exercises, and group work. These programs can range from a few days to two weeks. We also offer private versions of our regular offerings if your organization needs large group training opportunities. Minor modifications to the course content, if necessary, can be accommodated.

To develop a custom course for your organization, fill out the form below and email it to Liz Marriott at liz.marriott@mors.org and Tina Yan at tina.yan@mors.org. Include additional attachments if needed.
