

NAAHP Privacy Policy

This Privacy Policy outlines how the National Association of Advisors for the Health Professions ("NAAHP," "we," "our," or "us") collects, uses, and maintains information from users of our services.

Information We Collect

- Personal Data: When you register for a membership, attend an NAAHP event, or use our services, we may collect personal information such as your name, email address, phone number, and professional affiliations.
- Usage Data: We collect information about how our services are accessed and used. This may include your IP address, browser type, pages visited, and other usage patterns.

How We Use Information

- To Provide Services: We use your information to manage your membership, provide resources, and offer support.
- Communication: We may use your information to send newsletters, updates, and other communications related to NAAHP.
- Improvement: Improve our services and resources based on users' feedback and usage patterns.

Data Sharing and Disclosure

We do not sell or rent your personal data to third parties. However, under strict confidentiality agreements, we may share your information with trusted third parties that provide services to NAAHP, such as event organizers or IT service providers.

Cookies

Our website may use "cookies" to enhance user experience. You can set your web browser to refuse cookies or alert you when cookies are sent.

Data Security

We adopt appropriate data collection, storage, and processing practices to protect against unauthorized access, alteration, disclosure, or destruction of your personal information.

Third-Party Websites

Our services may contain links to external sites. We are not responsible for these external sites' content or privacy practices.

Changes to this Privacy Policy

NAAHP reserves the right to update this Privacy Policy at any time. We will notify members of any significant changes and encourage users to frequently check this page for updates.

Your Rights

Depending on your jurisdiction, you may have rights regarding your personal data, such as accessing, correcting, or deleting your data. Please contact us for any such requests.

Contact: For any queries or concerns about these terms, please contact Tony Wynne, Executive Director (twynne@naahp.org).
