4. Approval of Agenda
5. Standards Organization Overview (R. Southard)
6. Scope of the SC and Q&A
7. Membership Update
8. Document Projects

8.1. Status of Committee Documents
8.1.1. TG 299 - MR0175 Oversight Committee – G. Chitwood
8.1.2. MR0175 Maintenance Panel – U. Kivisakk
8.1.3. ANSI/NACE TM0177 “Laboratory Testing of Metals for Resistance to Sulfide Stress Cracking and Stress Corrosion Cracking in H2S Environments” – E. Coronado
8.1.5. TM0193 “Chemical Cleaning Test Methods—Low-Temperature Solutions” – to be assigned
8.1.6. TM0316 “Four-Point Bend Testing of Materials for Oil and Gas Applications” – C. Yue
8.1.9. TM21453 “Test Method for Resistance to Environmentally-Induced Hydrogen Stress Cracking in Welds”
8.1.10. SP21454 “Standard Practice for Environmental Prediction for Material Selection in Oil and Gas Production” – B. Chambers
8.1.11. SP “Laboratory Corrosion Testing of Metals in Static Chemical Cleaning Solutions at Temperatures Above 100 °C (212 °F)” – R. Shank (not confirmed)
8.1.12. SP “Biodegradable Magnesium Alloys” – A. Eliezer (not confirmed)

8.2. Other Committee Activities
8.2.1. Documents in Need Review/Revision/Reaffirmation
   8.2.1.1. TM0169/G31-12a Standard Guide for Laboratory Immersion Corrosion Testing of Metals
   8.2.1.2. Other?

9. New Business

   9.1. Potential New Standards Projects
   9.2. Presentations on Topics of Interest to SC

NACE Antitrust Policy Statement: The NACE Antitrust Policy Statement contained in the NACE International Policies and Procedures Manual shall be followed in standards development. Additionally, in discharging their responsibilities, members of the Standards Board and Standards Committees function as individuals and not as agents or representatives of any organization with which they may be associated, except that government employees participate in accordance with governmental regulations. Members are appointed to Standards Committees on the basis of their individual qualifications which enable them to contribute to the work of the Committee.

Intellectual Property Statement: NACE reserves the right to copyright any of its products, databases, audio/visual products or any other subject matter. NACE is responsible for communication, publication, and distribution in order to protect its products regardless of the means of distribution in print, databases, electronically, or any other method. This is intended to protect NACE from unauthorized reproduction, republication, or redistribution of NACE IP, including altering or removing any trademark, copyright or other notice from such material. NACE logos and all related trademarks, tradenames, and other intellectual property are property owned by NACE and cannot be used in full or in part without express prior written permission. As a participant in NACE technical committees, individuals agree that the collective work of the committee(s) is the property of NACE. It is NACE policy that the property rights of third parties shall be respected and not be infringed upon by NACE employees, members, or other participants. This agreement is intended to achieve the core purpose and accomplish the mission of NACE International and its members.

Patent Disclosure: The NACE Patent Policy contained in the NACE International Policies and Procedures Manual shall be followed in standards development. In cases dealing with American National Standards, ANSI’s patent policy (see ANSI Essential Requirements) shall be followed. When any Standards Committee member becomes aware that a standard under development might infringe on any patented or licensed technology, NACE staff should be notified.

Copyright Acknowledgement: As a participant in NACE Standards Committees, individuals agree that the collective work of the committee(s) is the property of NACE, and NACE is charged with its publication, dissemination, and protection pursuant to U.S. Copyright Law.

Any recording (including audio or video) of meetings is not permitted.
