

Allison Duey-Holtz, MSN, RN, CPNP-PC, is the 2012 WAPNAP APN of the Year award recipient. Allison is a Pediatric Nurse Practitioner in pediatric orthopedics at Children's Hospital of Wisconsin. Allison was recognized for the award for her program initiatives, leadership as a nurse practitioner, and for providing exemplary care. Specifically she has developed the Well Child Lower Extremity Development Clinic. Allison also worked closely with the Special Needs Program to help develop a peri-operative screening and multidisciplinary care plan for special needs kids undergoing major orthopedic surgeries.

Allison is a well-known speaker, presenter, and author on orthopedic care of the pediatric patient. She has presented at annual NAPNAP conferences. Allison is the lead author of a 3-part series on Acute and Non-acute Lower Extremity in the Pediatric Population Pain recently published in the Journal of Pediatric Health Care.

Allison is highly respected by her colleagues of all disciplines. She demonstrates exceptional care and leadership in her PNP role. Congratulations to Allison on being the WAPNAP 2012 APN of the year!