

Call for Nominations:

NC NAPNAP Marcia Lorimer Legacy Award for Outstanding Pediatric Nurse Practitioner

In honor of Marcia S. Lorimer, MSN, CPNP, Assistant Clinical Professor Emerita, Duke University School of Nursing.

This legacy award is established with recognition, and in honor, of the over 40 years of clinical, scientific, and leadership Marcia S. Lorimer has demonstrated as a Pediatric Nurse Practitioner. Throughout her career as an educator and its demanding work schedule, Marcia continued to serve as a CPNP, passionate about childhood developmental issues and promoting family teaching, but also as a leader, author, researcher and advocate. This award recognizes a pediatric nurse practitioner who serves with these same ideals of excellence in pediatric care through their work in education, leadership, advocacy, research, or clinical practice.

Yearly nominations for deserving candidates will be accepted by students or faculty in September. Nominations are due October 7, 2024.

Please complete the following nominations application and return to napnapnc@gmail.com.

The recipient will be notified via email in late September and presented with the award at the Annual Fall Conference on November 1, 2024. Those with extenuating circumstances who are unable to attend may receive their award virtually.

Eligibility Criteria:

- Must be a certified pediatric nurse practitioner (CPNP-PC, CPNP-AC, CPNP-PC/AC) or pediatric mental health specialist (PMHS)
- Must be a member of the North Carolina chapter of NAPNAP

Merit Criteria:

The candidate should demonstrate excellence in clinical practice, nursing education, research, policy/advocacy, or leadership that has left a measurable impact on children and the communities they serve.
