ISNO MISSION

The Iowa School Nurse Organization supports school nurses in the delivery of health services designed to improve the health and academic success of children.

Purpose

Participants will engage in learning current research-based practices for pediatric and school nursing through interactive teaching and learning strategies. Participants will also recognize how the practice of school nursing inspires and influences the health of all individuals in the school setting.

Objectives

- Distinguish how generational cycles of abuse influence individuals.
- Summarize how data definitions help school nurses illustrate the practice of school nursing
- Discover how to implement 5-2-1-0 healthy choices
- Describe the strategies and resources that school nurses can use for disaster mitigation & preparedness
- Describe the strategies and resources that school nurses can use for addressing the psycho-social issues of disasters
- Analyze the school nurse's role in caring for students taking cannabis and cannabidiol
- Describe nursing interventions to prevent sickle cell crisis
- Summarize common youth renal diseases and resources to assist student success in school
- Differentiate methods to create safe school environments for all students
- Synthesize legislation and evidence based practices that influence school nursing
- Recognize psychosocial aspects of youth developmental and behavioral concerns
- Practice mindfulness to improve your own self well-being and be a role model for others
