Alliance Program Committee:

Functions within the Association's short and long range goals to plan, create, and organize an effective Alliance Program with the goal of connecting individuals rather than companies from all business sectors that comprise the electrical power industry in the pursuit of improving safety and reliability.

For more information on the Alliance Program Committee responsibilities, please click here.

Training Committee:

Monitors, evaluates, and identifies training needs of the Association and provides direction to maintain training leadership for the Association and for the electrical testing industry.

For more information on the Training Committee responsibilities, please click here.

Safety/Code Representation Committee:

Advises the Association on electrical safety-related issues and regulations, helps keep the membership informed in areas of effective safety programs, and manages the NETA Minimum Safety Guidelines in cooperation with the NETA Standards Review Council and Membership Chair.

Application Review Process:

Each application will be reviewed by the individual committee chair, and applicants may expect notification within approximately 90 days.

Appointment to one or more of NETA's working committees is based on:

- Qualifications of the applicant
- Limiting the size of each committee to a manageable working group
- Maintaining a balance of interests within the membership of each committee
