

Terms of NETA Alliance Program

Participants in the NETA Alliance Program join a community of professionals committed to putting safety and reliability first within the electrical power industry. NETA Alliance Program participants acknowledge that the NETA Alliance Program is an individual subscription-based program -- not a company-based program -- for which there are no prerequisites or qualifications required, nor are there any earned certifications available. Participants agree that misrepresentation of their Alliance subscription and involvement with NETA is cause for revocation of their NETA Alliance subscription without reimbursement.