ANNUAL FORUM

Each spring, the NFBPA annual FORUM conference convenes with over 1,000 members and other participants for several days of proven and creative solutions to the most relevant issues facing local, state, and federal governments. NFBPA's annual FORUM features cutting-edge speakers and a comprehensive conference program attracting attendees from all over the country. Workshops are offered on a wide array of issues that are critical to public service management and professional development.

THE CORPORATE ROLE IN NFBPA

As Black public administrators endeavor to address critical issues and pressing concerns impacting state and local governments, the need to explore mutually beneficial cooperative relationships with the private sector becomes increasingly important. The Corporate Advisory Council provides a unique forum in which corporate managers and public executives can come together to explore and test innovative solutions to important challenges. Through these partnerships, both government and private industry have the opportunity to seek cooperative solutions, which may improve the quality of life for the citizens of urban and rural America.

BACKGROUND

What is the NFBPA?

The National Forum for Black Public Administrators (NFBPA) is an organization dedicated to the advancement of Black public leadership in local and state governments. Founded in 1983, in Fort Lauderdale, Florida, the NFBPA membership has grown to include managers and executives in virtually all disciplines represented in state and local governments. In addition to public service professionals, the association's membership embraces graduate students, deans and educators at schools of public administration, community service professionals and executives in the corporate sector.

With over 2,500 members representing more than 350 jurisdictions and 43 local chapters in 37 states, NFBPA has emerged as the nation's premier association of Black Public leadership. NFBPA seeks to identify and groom younger, emerging Black administrators by providing relevant exposure to the challenges and rewards of public service careers. The organization is governed by a 28-member Board of Directors.

VISION & MISSION

of the NFBPA

NFBPA is the nation's premier organization which inspires leadership development and service excellence with integrity and accountability while transforming the way we govern.

1. To serve as a catalyst for linking public and private organizations, as well as academic institutions to support the professional development of African-Americans choosing public service careers.
2. We prepare and groom leaders by mentoring, coaching and providing leadership development for African-Americans choosing public service.
3. We employ multiple modes of communication and cutting-edge leadership principles to enhance knowledge and skills for professional advancement of its members.

CORE PROGRAMS

The Center for Leadership Development

In addition to a broad array of quality membership services sponsored by NFBPA, a number of special programs have been established in direct response to critical needs in public administration. In the training arena, NFBPA operates four widely acclaimed programs that address the varied needs of established and emerging public administrators in the United States and abroad.

The Executive Leadership Institute (ELI) - is an intensive executive training program developed to polish the managerial skills of successful black managers seeking executive level appointments in the public sector.

The Mentor Program - matches younger, emerging public administrators with seasoned executives to facilitate the provision of support and personalized assistance in career planning, skills enhancement and networking. The ELI and Mentor programs run from September to April, following a competitive application process.

International Programs - NFBPA maintains a strong interest and commitment in serving economically disadvantaged communities in the U.S., Africa, and the Caribbean. Acting as both prime and sub-contractor on several US AID projects geared toward training the next generation of public managers, NFBPA maintains a national database of members interested in sharing their public management skills abroad.

Scholarships - with the support of our corporate sponsors, student members are eligible to apply for annual scholarships to assist with academic fees and tuition.
