

Kenneth Hayslette

CPPO, C.P.M., CPCM

Ken Hayslette is a trainer, speaker, and writer whose passion to help others become happier through increased success in their careers and personal life has encouraged him to develop and deliver multiple speeches, workshops and seminars in procurement, contracting, and personal achievement. Ken has over 33 years experience in purchasing and contracting - 13 years in the electronics industry and over 20 years in the public sector. He has served as the Director for two large county governments with some very diverse stakeholders. Ken is currently in private practice providing educational and consulting services to individuals, public and private organizations. He also serves as an ethics counselor for two large not for profit organizations.

Contact: hayslette@bellsouth.net