

DANIELLE HINZ, CPPO, C.P.M.

Danielle joined Amazon in May 2018 and works as the strategy leader for local governments. Prior to Amazon, she spent over 20 years in government procurement most recently as Chief Procurement Officer for King County, Washington. Prior to that, she worked in procurement leadership positions in Colorado, including the City of Longmont, Colorado Mountain College, and University of Colorado. She served in volunteer board positions for NIGP and two of its chapters, including serving as president of the Rocky Mountain Governmental Purchasing Association and as vice chair of NIGP's Talent Council. She is a Certified Public Procurement Official and earned her Master's Degree in Public Administration from the University of Colorado. She now lives in Washington with her husband and two children.