

Jacob Kashiwagi, Ph.D.

Dr. Kashiwagi is an international consultant and researcher in the fields of procurement, supply chain management, and project management. He is the developer of the no-influence leadership theory, the theoretical basis for the Best Value Approach (BVA). He is responsible for research done with the State of Oklahoma, Arizona Department of Environmental Quality, and the US Army Medical command, where he produced significant results of cost savings, increased efficiency, and improved quality to the services provided.