

Laura Shelters, M.Ed.

Laura Shelters is the Director, Content Research and Development, for NIGP: The Institute for Public Procurement. She has over seven years of experience improving operations through curriculum development; including specializations in needs analysis, instructional design strategies, learning management system operation, customer engagement, instructional technologies, 508 compliance, and training evaluation. She earned her bachelors of business administration in marketing from Marshall University, her masters of science in business education and a master's certificate in training and development from Southern New Hampshire University, and a project management for learning professionals certificate from the Association for Talent Development.