

Mike Purdy, MBA

Mike Purdy is an independent public procurement and contracting consultant with 38-plus years experience. He is a nationally-recognized expert, speaker, and consultant who helps public agencies develop and implement effective contracting strategies. He teaches three construction procurement courses for NIGP across the country, and has taught a variety of other classes, including at past Forums. Mike began his career with the City of Seattle, where he was the City's Contracting Manager. After more than 21 years with the City, he served for five years at the Seattle Housing Authority as Contracting and Procurement Manager. He was then appointed as the Contracts Manager for the University of Washington's capital projects office. Mike has a bachelor's degree in business and public administration and a masters of business administration, both from the University of Puget Sound (Tacoma, WA), and a master of divinity degree from Fuller Theological Seminary (Pasadena, CA).
