

Sheema Mirchandani

Sheema Mirchandani has served as a Best Value Sourcing architect at Sysoft. She teaches supply chain application modeling with Excel and database management systems at Rutgers University School of Business. She is one of the original architects of eRFP proposal evaluation systems developed at Sysoft Corporation. She has 15+ years of experience in business modeling, RFP evaluation, cost model implementation, supply chain management, and contract management.