RenalEdge GPO Announced Partnership with GSK

RHA Members Gain Access to Discounted Flu and Hepatitis Vaccines

RenalEdge GPO announces a new vendor partnership with GSK, a global biopharmaceutical company focused on preventing and treating disease through vaccines and medicines. Through this partnership, members of the Renal Healthcare Association (RHA) gain access to discounted pricing on GSK's influenza and hepatitis vaccines, supporting improved patient and staff protection in dialysis facilities.

Vaccination remains a critical component of infection prevention for dialysis patients and care teams. This partnership is designed to help RHA members more easily access trusted vaccines at preferred pricing, supporting public health efforts while reducing operational costs.

"Access to vaccines is essential for protecting vulnerable patient populations and the healthcare professionals who care for them," said Jeff S., Senior Trade Strategy, GSK. "We're proud to partner with RenalEdge GPO to support RHA members with broader access to influenza and hepatitis vaccines that play an important role in preventing these vaccine-preventable diseases."

GSK is a focused biopharma company with a long-standing commitment to vaccines and infectious disease prevention. Its broad vaccine portfolio targets infectious diseases across every stage of life, aligning with the needs of dialysis providers serving high-risk patient populations.

Additional information about this partnership, including enrollment details, will be shared on the RenalEdge website. To learn more, visit www.RenalEdge.com.
