

POSITION: DIRECTOR OF INDUSTRY RELATIONS

The National Society of Accountants (NSA) is seeking a Director of Industry Relations for our expanding team. Have you been a public accountant? Done tax preparation professionally or accounting for small businesses? Would you like to help guide the NSA's continuing education, information resources, and program development to ensure that we are providing the right information via the right channels at the right time? Do you want to engage with officials and allies to propel the needs and rights of our members and their clients? Do you want to make a difference to thousands of people just like you?

Reporting directly to the CEO, this position will oversee, guide, and support efforts across the membership, continuing education, curriculum design, external relations, professional resources, and marketing & communications. The Director also serves as tax committee liaison and publication contributor. As a small staff organization, this role is for DOERS, and you will have the opportunity to take your ideas from concept to creation. Leveraging your first-hand accounting & tax experience, superior writing skills, IRS knowledge, and formal education, the Director will elevate NSA's mission, drive best practices, and augment offerings for its members.

Salary: $100K + benefits

Location: Alexandria, VA (hybrid) OR Fully Remote

NSA is partnering with Job Society to conduct this search. Please forward your resume to Kathryn Chmura, Co-Founder & Principal, at kathryn@jobsocietydc.com.

ABOUT NSA

With over 75 years of working for tax & accounting professionals, the core mission of the NSA is to help tax and accounting professionals become more successful. Accountants and tax practitioners who have established their businesses can take advantage of member benefits and discounts that positively affect the bottom line of a small practice. NSA also increases the value of membership by remaining in constant contact with members through email newsletters, announcements, publications, social media, and surveys. This open and transparent communication allows Leadership and staff to develop better programs to help members be successful.

NSA also produces and sponsors educational programs, such as the Live Enrolled Agent Exam Review Course that has helped many practitioners pass the EA exam the very first time. NSA is closely aligned with ACAT, producing the exam and study materials that allow potential credential holders to obtain ACAT's prestigious designations.
