

National Society of Accountants Author Guidelines

MAIN STREET PRACTITIONER brings cutting-edge information, trends, and best practice articles to its readers. This online magazine of the National Society of Accountants (NSA) is presented five times a year.

The digital issue includes features such as hyperlinks to more information; a search function that enables readers to search for specific topics; and the ability to share articles through email and social media.

Some articles, including practice management topics may be published in the NSA e-newsletter, MemberLink, which is distributed bi-monthly.

Article Guidelines

Articles are generally between 600-1200 words. Basic guidelines for submitting articles include:

- An electronic text file, submitted to the editor at editor@nsacct.org
- A high-quality JPG or PDF of any charts or figures
- Author contact information, including a bio and medium to high resolution photo

The editors are looking for articles that cover subject areas specific to the tax and accounting industries. Some topic ideas include, but are not limited to:

Accounting	Corporations	Preparer Certification Concepts
Amending Returns	Credentials	Professional Development
Auditing Issues	Divorce Issues	Professional Ethics
Bankruptcy	Estate Planning	Setting up a New Business
Building a Business	Financial Planning	Social Security Benefits
Case Studies	Government Resources	Success Stories
Collections	IRS Negotiation	Succession Planning
Consolidations, Mergers, & Acquisitions	Leadership	Tax Legislation
Continuing Education	New Tax Regulations	Tax Season Preparation
	Partnerships	Volunteering

To view the Main Street Practitioner online, click here.

Editorial and advertising contact: editor@nsacct.org