ACAT CREDENTIALS:

- ABA Accredited Business Accountant/Advisor®
- Accredited Tax Preparer® (ATP)
- Accredited Tax Advisor® (ATA)
- Accredited Retirement Advisor® (ARA)

ACAT accreditation provides evidence to clients, prospective clients, employers, and the public that the accredited professional has met higher national standards and has a mastery of accounting and taxation procedures and practices. Potential clients will certainly want to know whether a preparer has credentials demonstrating expertise in business accounting, tax planning and advising, or tax matters affecting the elderly.

ACAT credentials are a public declaration that you have the expertise and qualifications to provide sound and accurate taxation and accounting advice to individuals and to small-medium size businesses.

Because accreditation is voluntary, the choice to become accredited demonstrates individual pride in the profession, the desire to be recognized for mastery of the principles of accounting and taxation, and an ongoing commitment to continuing professional education, quality client care. Accreditation gives nationwide recognition and can open the door for upward mobility, employment opportunities and higher pay.

ACCREDITED BUSINESS ACCOUNTANT/ADVISOR® (ABA)

What is Accreditation in Accountancy or ABA?

ABA Accredited Business Accountant® is ACAT's trademarked designation for Accreditation in Accountancy. The ABA is a prestigious professional accounting credential that demonstrates to clients, potential clients and employers that the credential holder has a thorough knowledge and proficiency in financial accounting, financial reporting, financial statement preparation, taxation, managerial accounting, business law, and ethics for small- to medium-sized businesses.

In IA and MN achieving the ABA designation meets state regulatory requirements to practice public accountancy. MN requires a 75% passing score on both Practices of the exam. The use of the term “accountant” for non CPAs varies by state.

In other locations where the term “accountant” cannot be used in any form, and states that allow the use of the term “accountant” as a stand alone word but with a disclaimer, accredited individuals use Accredited Business Advisor®. The process for attaining the credential and rules for use are the same. Check with your state board of accountancy for your state accountancy compliance rules.

How do I become ABA accredited & what are the requirements?

To become an ABA, you must pass the Comprehensive Examination for Accreditation in Accountancy, a 200-question exam offered twice in a year at testing centers around the country and have three years of related work experience, up to two of which may be satisfied through two years college-level accounting credit.

ACAT seeks to ensure that all accredited individuals possess theoretical knowledge and the practical knowledge necessary to be successful practitioners. For that reason, candidates for accreditation must satisfy a three-year experience requirement before becoming fully credentialed. Individuals who pass the exam but who have not met the experience requirement may promote themselves as having “passed the ACAT Comprehensive Examination for Accreditation in Accountancy,” but are not entitled to use the ABA designation.

Who is eligible to take the ABA examination?

ACAT has developed requirements for eligibility to ensure that the application process is fair and impartial for all applicants. Each eligibility requirement has been established to ensure that individuals certified by the ACAT have an acceptable level of knowledge and proficiency of the principles, practices, and ethical standards of accounting, taxation, information technology and related financial services.

There are no educational requirements to sit for the Comprehensive Examination, however, candidates must be at least 18 years of age and must have a minimum background of three (3) years work experience or two (2) years of college-level accounting plus one (1) year work experience to earn the ABA credential. Individuals without substantive work experience are advised to complete Principles, Intermediate, and either Cost or Managerial Accounting, as well as at least one semester in Taxation before taking the examination.

Candidates who earn an ACAT credential have demonstrated knowledge of the principles, practices, and ethical standards of accounting, taxation, information technology and related financial services in order to maintain the highest level of service to the public.

Candidates cannot earn certification without passing the certification examination.

Comprehensive Examination for Accreditation in Accountancy

The Comprehensive Examination for Accreditation in Accountancy tests the technical proficiency of candidates in financial accounting, financial reporting, financial statement preparation, taxation, business consulting services, business law, and ethics. Emphasis is on a practical approach to public accounting. The exam is divided into two parts: PRACTICE 1 and PRACTICE 2, both of which have 100 multiple-choice questions.

The questions on ABA exam are developed as the result of a Job Task Analysis that studies what accountants do, how often they perform each task and how important they perceive the task to be. The result of this survey was a blueprint or outline for the exam covering the topics to be tested and the number of questions on each topic.

The proctor will provide a dry erase board for making notes or scratch paper and a pencil. A list of prohibited items and more information is on the confirmation notice from Castle.

You will receive unofficial provisional pass/fail notice at the time you complete an examination. You should receive your final and verified exam results approximately six weeks after the end of the examination period.

What scores do I need to pass the ACAT exams?

For the ABA, a passing grade is 70 on each part of the exam—Practice 1 and Practice 2. A candidate who does not pass the full exam, but does pass one part, either Practice 1 or Practice 2, has 18 months to re-take that part of the exam. A candidate failing to pass both parts within the designated time must reapply and retake both parts.

For the ATP and ATA, a passing grade is 70. Candidates will receive a letter from ACAT notifying them of their official and final test pass/fail results. Test results are confidential and will not be released to anyone without your written permission. ACAT securely stores exam results indefinitely.

What do I receive when I pass an exam, submit the credential fee and meet applicable experience requirements?

As a new ABA credential holder, you will be able to use the ABA Accredited Business Accountant[®] or Accredited Business Advisor[®] designation as permitted by your State Board of Accountancy. New ATPs and ATAs can use the Accredited Tax Preparer[®] and Accredited Tax Advisor[®] designations.

You can also order a hand-lettered certificate attesting to your accredited status. In addition, ACAT provides client marketing materials and credential logos to assist you in promoting your credentials, and you'll be listed in a national credentials directory on www.findataxpro.org where clients can go to when they are searching for a new accountant or tax professional.

ACAT has many programs to benefit credential holders including client brochures, credential logos, findataxpro.org, the ACAT ActionLetter e-newsletter, tax and accounting tips, and through our partnership with the National Society of Accountants, your voice will be heard on state and national accounting and tax issues.

How do I maintain the ACAT credentials?

Renewal is not automatic. Credential holders maintain accreditation through:

1. payment of annual renewal fees;
2. compliance with ACAT's mandatory Continuing Professional Education (CPE) requirements; and
3. adherence to ACAT's Code of Ethics and Rules of Professional Conduct.

Annual renewal fees

Annual renewal fees are due by June 30th each year, regardless of when the credential is earned. The exam fees do not include renewal fees.

For more information on renewal fees, go to www.acatcredentials.org.

Continuing professional education requirements

ACAT CPE reporting cycles always begin on July 1 and end on June 30 and run for three years. The current CPE began July 1, 2014 and will conclude on June 30, 2017. CPE requirements are prorated for those who earn an ACAT credential in after the start of a reporting cycle.

Individuals holding Accreditation in Accountancy[®] (ABA) must earn 120 CPE hours every three years: with at least 24 hours in accounting or related subjects (finance, business management, technology, or business law); at least 24 hours in taxation; 4 hours in ethics. This meets or exceeds the recommended educational requirements of all state boards of accountancy.

Individuals holding the Accredited Tax Preparer[®] credential must earn 72 hours of CPE during each three-year cycle with at least 68 hours in taxation or related subjects (accounting, finance, technology, business law) or subjects that relate to your particular area of practice or employment; plus 4 hours in ethics.

Individuals holding the Accredited Tax Advisor[®] credential must earn 90 hours of CPE during each three-year cycle with at least 86 hours in taxation or related subjects (such as accounting, finance, technology, or business law) or subjects that relate to your particular area of practice or employment; plus 4 hours in ethics.

Individuals holding the Accredited Retirement Advisor[®] credential must earn 72 hours of CPE each three-year cycle with at least 24 hours in elder-care issues (such as retirement, asset management, Social Security, Medicare, long-term care, or trusts and estates); plus 4 hours in ethics. The remaining hours can be in accounting, taxation, finance, technology, business law or subjects that relate to your particular area of practice or employment.

Credential holders who have more than one credential need to have total hours of CPE for the credential with the highest requirement – not the combined number of hours.

ACAT conducts periodic random audits to ensure that credential holders remain in compliance. If you have not earned the required CPE at the end of a cycle, you may apply for a 6-month extension of time. If you do not complete and report your CPE hours, your credential will be suspended. Once your credential is suspended, you will have a limited amount of time to meet the qualifications for reinstatement.

ACAT Code of Ethics

ACAT's Code of Ethics and Rules of Professional Conduct are among the highest standards of practice in the financial and taxation profession. Compliance with this standard of professional integrity is required of all those with accreditation. A code of ethics is sent to all credential holders and is also on the ACAT website at www.acatcredentials.org.

Reinstatement

If you do not pay your renewal fees, fail to meet your CPE requirements or do not adhere to Code of Ethics, your ACAT credential(s) will be suspended and your certificate(s) will need to be returned to ACAT. You have five years from the date of suspension to request reinstatement. Accredited status may be reinstated in one of three ways:

1. You may sit for and satisfactorily complete the examination at any time following the expiration of the accredited status.
2. You may submit the reinstatement fee, back renewal fees, and give evidence to ACAT of the completion of acceptable continuing education in the 12 months immediately prior to the date of filing for reinstatement.
3. You may be reinstated by ACAT Board action on an individual basis only for extreme or special circumstances.

SUGGESTED STUDY AIDS

ACAT recommends the study tools published by the National Society of Accountants (NSA) to help you prepare for the exams. You can also use the exam blueprints in this handbook or on www.acatcredentials.org to guide your studies and select courses that are best for you.
