Symposium/Convention Student Leadership Scholarship Procedure

Scholarship Description:

This scholarship will be awarded to two (2) NSH student members, to attend the NSH Symposium/Convention. Recipients of this scholarship will be individuals interested in developing their leadership skills, both in the laboratory and within the NSH organization.

The scholarship will cover travel, hotel, and per diem food costs for recipients for 6 nights of the Convention. The scholarship will also include recipient attendance at designated classes associated with leadership development. The recipient will be expected to attend NSH governance and membership related meetings, to understand and get involved with the business of the Society. After attending, the student will be required to write an article for NSH In Action about their trip, which must be submitted by October 4th. Please include photos from the event. Click here for an article example.

The purpose of this scholarship is to cultivate growth of the future generations of the histology profession and NSH as the field’s professional society.
