

John Gersch

Managing Counsel, Product Liability

Toyota Motor North America, Inc.

John is originally from West Salem, Wisconsin. After graduating from West Point, John served in the Army for three years, then attended the University of Wisconsin Law School and became an Army judge advocate (JAG), where he served an additional six years.

After the Army, John began private practice at Bryan Cave in Kansas City, Missouri., and since then he has worked for two other law firms and three automotive companies in the Detroit and Dallas areas.

John is currently a Managing Counsel at Toyota Motor North America, Inc., where he works on advanced technology issues, reviews marketing materials and manages product liability cases.