ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

This year's PAA Annual meeting is one of several future meetings designed to keep costs down and locate within easy commute of a large swath of our membership. We thank you for coming in person to Columbus, and hope you enjoy everything this rapidly growing area has to offer, as well as our program theme of "Reproductive Justice in the wake of the Dobbs decision."

We want to thank all the people who have joined us to make this meeting intellectually engaging, socially meaningful and agenda-setting, especially those who agreed to speak in our special Presidential plenary sessions. We are also grateful to the almost 50 PAA members on our program committee who organized session titles for the 15 different program areas and the many, many session organizers and reviewers who read through and selected hundreds of submissions for regular sessions and posters. We also thank the graduate students and postdocs at Bowling Green and UT-Austin who helped us both organize poster sessions in all thematic areas after regular sessions were completed. In addition, many PAA staff members devoted countless hours to making the program and the time we spend in Columbus smooth and enjoyable. This year we are especially grateful to the local organizing committee led by Director Sarah Hayford at Ohio State's Institute for Population Research.

This year's program includes 1785 presentations in 235 sessions and 900 posters on topics ranging across the life course, across the globe and across diverse populations. Our goal was to be responsive to priorities set by members via their submissions as well as to highlight issues we consider critical to today's population scientists. Sessions on systemic racism and life chances, incarceration and criminal justice, global population trends in demographic and population health, as well as reproductive health challenges and public policy are highlighted in this year's program.

We are grateful for the expertise and dedication of the PAA staff who together ensure that the annual meeting is a success. PAA's Executive Director Danielle Staudt deserves kudos for her exceptional leadership and organizational prowess, alongside Bobbie Westmoreland who is a true wizard at putting together all of the puzzle pieces that comprise the meeting program. Francesca Morton, Finance and Meeting Manager, astutely oversees the budgetary and contracting aspects of the annual meeting and Betsy Alafoginis, our Communications and Membership Manager, is adept at interfacing with members and the larger community to get the word out about the annual meeting. Mary Jo Hoeksema, Director of Government Affairs for PAA and APC always does a superb job representing our interests to the federal agencies funding demographic data collection and analysis. The behind the scenes action by our PAA staff is truly impressive and the meeting would not be possible without their diligence and hard work. Huge thanks to all.

Past President, Lisa Berkman and Past Vice-President, James Raymo, have helped us in innumerable ways in planning the program and preparing us for leadership. We hope to be as helpful to incoming President Irma Elo and Vice President Kyle Crowder. Finally, we thank all the Board members and PAA committee members who consistently help us run this organization and produce what we think will be an inclusive and insightful annual meeting.
