

What will my.ptg.org do for you?

What is my.ptg.org? A professional discussion web site created for PTG members to connect and communicate via discussion forums, libraries, blogs and e-mail.

As a PTG Member

- You can easily locate and contact other members. Driven by the PTG database, it is always the most up-to-date information available.
- You can establish and maintain your own contact list.
- A single login will keep you connected to all the activity on www.ptg.org and my.ptg.org.
- You can quickly see current topics – and joining the discussions is easy, too.
- You can more easily follow discussion threads to see all comments and responses to a particular topic.
- You can actively participate in social networking with control over what you show or don't show on your profile.
- You have access to libraries with documents, videos, and other files that might not come through on your regular e-mail because of firewalls or other restrictions.
- Searches for topics, communities, people or keywords are easy.
- You can build professional relationships with other piano technicians who share your interests, but not your geographical area. Reconnect with members you may have met in the past.
- You can collaborate with others who share your goals, challenges and interests.
- You control how you participate - e-mail, smartphone, or web site.

my.ptg.org

As a Chapter

- You and members of your chapter can easily locate and contact one another.
- You will easily be able to post events, chapter news, and discussions.
- Using the online resource library, you can share a document, video, link, photo, and other files with the entire chapter with one simple action.
- You can have your own professionally-designed microsite hosted on the PTG platform if you need a public website.

As a Special Interest Group

- Create your own special interest group (Member Created Community) or join in with many of the others already started.
- You and members within your group will have a richer online platform for discussing topics of interest for your specialty.
- You can see and control who is in your Member Created special interest group.
- You can more easily follow discussion threads to see all the comments and responses on a particular topic.
- Using the online resource library, you can share a document, video, link, photo, and other files with the entire group with one simple action.
- Files you attach to your discussion posts will automatically be placed in the library.
- Subscribing or changing subscription options is easy.
- New members of the group can view or join the discussions right away.
- A single login will keep you connected to all the activity on www.ptg.org and my.ptg.org.
- Searches for topics or keywords are easy.

www.ptg.org

As a Committee Member

- You can see everyone who is on your committee and click on links to see their online profiles.
- You and members within your committee will have a secure platform for discussing topics relevant to your committee.
- You can more easily follow discussion threads to see all the comments and responses on a particular topic.
- Using the online resource library, you can share a document, video, link, photo, and other files with the entire committee with one simple action.
- New members of the committee can view or join discussions right away, and review discussion threads begun earlier.
- A single login will keep you connected to all the activity on www.ptg.org and my.ptg.org.

Go Online With PTG

What's new and different at www.ptg.org?

The main site for the public and PTG members, this is where piano owners find RPTs and piano care guidelines, teachers and students find educational materials, and members can find complete member directories, downloadable materials, and organizational documents.

- Log in only once with your PTG username and password to access all areas.
- View your profile and make real-time changes that show up online immediately.
- Add new features to your profile by uploading a picture, adding a bio and more.
- Shop a new and improved PTG online store.
- Pay bills online (including dues and store orders.)
- View an expanded Events area.
- Visit the Publications area to find Journal media support files and downloadable audible and PDF Journal issues.
- Use the Industry Resource Directory to find a supplier for the part or tool you need.
- Use the improved search function to quickly find what you need.
- Find resources for RPT certification exams, business and marketing aids, chapter management tools, forms, and organizational documents more easily.

What is my.ptg.org?

Connect and communicate with other technicians around the world via discussion forums, libraries, blogs and more.

- Use the same login as you do at www.ptg.org and be automatically logged on to both sites.
- View your profile and make changes online. Use the privacy settings to control what others can view on your profile.
- See what communities you are already linked to and join other member-created groups.
- Search by topic, keyword, and more.
- Easily post a message to a community discussion or upload a file to a shared library.
- See what topics are current and easily follow discussion threads. Sort by date, author, or topic.
- Control how you receive notifications for different communities (e-mail, smartphone or online).
- Add contacts and create new discussion groups.
- Revitalize chapter and committee communications with online discussions and a shared library.
- Collaborate with others who share your goals and challenges.

Go Online With PTG

What's new and different at www.ptg.org?

The main site for the public and PTG members, this is where piano owners find RPTs and piano care guidelines, teachers and students find educational materials, and members can find complete member directories, downloadable materials, and organizational documents.

- Log in only once with your PTG username and password to access all areas.
- View your profile and make real-time changes that show up online immediately.
- Add new features to your profile by uploading a picture, adding a bio and more.
- Shop a new and improved PTG online store.
- Pay bills online (including dues and store orders.)
- View an expanded Events area.
- Visit the Publications area to find Journal media support files and downloadable audible and PDF Journal issues.
- Use the Industry Resource Directory to find a supplier for the part or tool you need.
- Use the improved search function to quickly find what you need.
- Find resources for RPT certification exams, business and marketing aids, chapter management tools, forms, and organizational documents more easily.

What is my.ptg.org?

Connect and communicate with other technicians around the world via discussion forums, libraries, blogs and more.

- Use the same login as you do at www.ptg.org and be automatically logged on to both sites.
- View your profile and make changes online. Use the privacy settings to control what others can view on your profile.
- See what communities you are already linked to and join other member-created groups.
- Search by topic, keyword, and more.
- Easily post a message to a community discussion or upload a file to a shared library.
- See what topics are current and easily follow discussion threads. Sort by date, author, or topic.
- Control how you receive notifications for different communities (e-mail, smartphone or online).
- Add contacts and create new discussion groups.
- Revitalize chapter and committee communications with online discussions and a shared library.
- Collaborate with others who share your goals and challenges.