A piano is a complex piece of artistry. Every standard size piano contains more than 200 strings that must be tuned separately. More than 10,000 individual parts must be kept in proper regulation if the piano is to function properly and sound its best.

A piano is an investment. Your piano is one of the most expensive and mechanically complex items you will ever own. Properly maintained, it will outlast your car and possibly your home.

Shouldn’t it receive the best possible care? Your piano is unique. An RPT is able to evaluate your instrument and provide an appropriate maintenance program based on your individual needs.

What is the Piano Technicians Guild (PTG)?
PTG is the world’s premiere source of expertise in piano service and technology. PTG grants the Registered Piano Technician (RPT) credential after a series of rigorous examinations that test skill in piano tuning, regulation and repair. RPTs are professionals who have committed themselves to the continual pursuit of excellence, both in technical service and ethical conduct.

Your Chapter Name Here
Greetings from
The Pennsylvania State Conference of the Piano Technicians Guild, Inc.

Many people believe that students can get along with any piano, regardless of age or condition, but that’s not true. The surest way to discourage someone from playing the piano is letting them play on one that is out of tune. Students cannot expect to progress if they go home to an out-of-tune piano that is sluggish or uneven. Smooth, even playing is as much a result of a well-maintained piano as a well-rehearsed student. The PTG offers an informative brochure on the care of the home piano.

Normal home piano service isn’t enough to keep an instrument responsive to the demands of a teaching schedule. PTG offers a new brochure that addresses the special needs of the teaching piano.

Indicate which brochure(s) you would like: “How Should I Take Care of My Piano?” or “The Special Care and Maintenance of the Teaching Piano.” Send a self-addressed #10 (legal sized) envelope with 29 cents postage for one brochure; 52 cents for both brochures. Send to:
