

BIOGRAPHY

Steve Wilder is the Vice President-Risk Management for The Walt Disney Company. His department is responsible for directing Disney's worldwide corporate Risk Management program. Before joining The Walt Disney Company, he was Risk Manager from 1982 to 1987 for Whittaker Corporation, a diversified manufacturer with operations in chemicals, marine products, technology, metals and health care. Earlier in his career, Steve also worked in the insurance brokerage industry.

He holds a BA in Economics from the University of Pennsylvania and has completed UCLA's Executive Management Program. In addition, he has an Associate in Risk Management Designation and a Masters in Risk Management from Florida State University.

He was named Business Insurance's Risk Manager of the Year in 1990 and is a former National President of the Risk Insurance Management Society. In 2004 he was named one of the "100 Most Influential People in Finance" by Treasury and Risk Management magazine. He currently sits on the Board of Directors of Verdugo Hills Hospital where he serves as Vice-Chair and is a Commissioner sitting on the State of California's Public Infrastructure Advisory Committee. In 2010 Steve was awarded RIMS' top honor, The Goodell Award for his lifetime achievements in Risk Management.