

High Performance Risk Management: Managing Risks to Make a Difference

Presented by Chris Mandel with Sedgwick CMS

The value of risk management is often a question about which the C-suite and business unit management often press for better answers. Total Cost of Risk (TCOR) is a common and usually well-received measure but risk managers need more ways to prove their value and gain management and board commitments to greater investment in managing risk. However, over the last decade, practitioners have found new and innovative ways to gain influence, show value, measure success differently and fuel their own personal success as a result. For some this has been the path from middle management to the C suite. This session, based on Chris Mandel's book of the same name in development, will review the various ways successful risk managers tell their story, drive innovation in their function, gain deeper commitment to strategies and the effect it has on their career trajectories. It will include key learnings from well known risk management experts, also profiled in the book.
