

Where Do I Start?

(A Guide for New RIMS Members)

What To Do	Where To Find It	Why It's Important
Complete your profile	www.RIMS.org/MyProfile	Once you log in to the RIMS website (www.RIMS.org), your first step should be to complete your member profile. This will help us make sure that you receive the information tailored to make your membership most valuable to YOU.
Contact your local chapter	www.RIMS.org/Chapters	All RIMS members are also members of their local chapter. Check out your chapter's website for news on meetings and events.
Subscribe to relevant eGroups	www.RIMS.org/eGroups	RIMS has more than 40 eGroups which allow you to "network" electronically with risk professionals in a variety of fields of interest and industries. Visit this site to subscribe to relevant groups and determine how you'd like to receive communications.
Check out the most recent issue of Risk Management magazine	www.rmmagazine.com	It takes a few weeks for your subscription to Risk Management to begin; in the meantime, check out the latest issue online.
Plan your professional development schedule	www.RIMS.org/Education	Life-long learning is key to your professional growth. RIMS offers myriad opportunities for face-to-face and online learning in a wide variety of topics.
Enhance your knowledge	www.RIMS.org/RiskKnowledge	Search and share content in Risk Knowledge, a library full of information for today's risk practitioner.
Get career guidance information	www.RIMS.org/CareerCenter	The RIMS Career Center features our Job Bank, where you can search resumes to fill positions or organizations seeking to fill risk practitioner jobs. Add to that, our current Compensation Survey and articles on building a resume and creating job descriptions.
Contribute data to the RIMS Benchmark Survey	www.RIMS.org/Book	Want to receive state-of-the-industry benchmarking data on the total cost of risk (TCOR) for free? Simply contribute your organization's data (totally confidentially) and you'll automatically receive the publication when it's printed (usually in June of each year for the previous year).
Visit the Enterprise and Strategic Risk Center	www.RIMS.org/ERM	Access the tools and resources you need to start or further develop your organization's ERM program.
Complete the Risk Maturity Model	www.RIMS.org/RMM	Want to know how your organization measures up on the implementation of Enterprise Risk Management? Professional members can take the Risk Maturity Model for free and get a customized assessment along with next steps.
Learn more about the two foundations associated with RIMS	www.spencered.org or mcgannonfoundation.ca	RIMS aligns with two educational and research foundations—Spencer in the US and McGannon in Canada—to provide support in the form of research grants, educational scholarships and more.
