

William Wisser
Vice President
Bio

Mr. Wisser is a vice president in the Supervision, Regulation, and Credit Department of the Federal Reserve Bank of Philadelphia (Reserve Bank). In this role, Mr. Wisser and his staff are responsible for regulatory applications, enforcement, supervision - safety and soundness, and risk.

Mr. Wisser has previously served as an instructor for the examiner commissioning program, where he taught assistant examiners about risk-focused examination techniques and adapting to changes in the banking industry.

Mr. Wisser is also a member of the Community Banking Organization Management Group (CBO MG), a group consisting of officers from across the Federal Reserve System that addresses risks facing the community banking industry. In addition, he serves as a member of the Large Foreign Banking Organization Management Group (LFBO MG), which focuses on the supervision of banking organizations larger than $50 billion.

Prior to joining the Reserve Bank in 1998, Mr. Wisser worked as a safety and soundness examiner with the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania Department of Banking for six years.

Mr. Wisser earned a bachelor's degree in business administration from Bloomsburg University
