

Michael Ariens is Professor of Law at St. Mary's University, where he has taught since 1987. He teaches and writes in the areas of ethics, constitutional law and American legal history. He received his J.D. from Marquette University and an LL.M. from Harvard University. He came to St. Mary's Law School after working as an associate in a law firm in Washington, D.C. He is the author of four books and over thirty articles. He is currently working on a book on the history of American legal ethics.